When I choose to go on vacation somewhere, I often choose to go to the beach, because beach vacations offer many activities. For example, beach holiday makers can use the beach for a chance to relax. The sound of the waves, the feel of the warm sun on your skin, and the opportunity to nap or read a book can all contribute to a relaxing environment. Additionally, beach holiday makers can get exercise. Swimming, surfing, and jogging along the shore line are all great beach activities that offer a change to build your stamina and help keep a person healthy. Because of these many opportunities, I often choose to go to the beach.
